Dear Candidate:

Congratulations! You passed the Intel Certification beta exam. You will find your official Sylvan score report included with this letter.

This exam will qualify toward meeting your Intel certification requirements depending on which certification track you are pursuing. It may also qualify for re-certification (re-certification is required ONLY for those who earned a certification in 1998). Check the Intel certification website for re-certification details at www.intel.com/training/certification.

Thank you for your participation in the Intel beta testing program and again, congratulations on your achievement!

Sincerely,

Susan Davidson
